SCHEFFLERA

Brassaia actinophylla

UMBRELLA TREE

The schefflera is a very easy medium light plant to grow.

It likes bright light but does not like direct sun . It also can tolerate lower light levels.

This plant is native of Australia and New Zealand and has only been grown as a houseplant since the 1950's.

Let this plant become slightly dry between watering. Scheffleras prefer day temps of 65-75* and night temps should not dip below 50*.

Repot pot with a good houseplant potting soil and add some worm casting to the soil for a natural fertilizer.

Prune or cut back if it starts getting to big. You can take cuttings but it does take 1-2 months to root.
